CHAPTER 01

Why Study MBBS in China

Discover 8 compelling reasons why China has become a premier destination for medical education

8 Key Advantages of Studying MBBS in China

Affordable Tuition

PKR 7-15 lakhs/year, significantly lower than private medical colleges in Pakistan

World Recognition

Degrees recognized by WHO, PMDC, ECFMG, and other international medical councils

Quality Education

International standard curriculum with English medium programs at top universities

Clinical Training

Hands-on practical experience in modern university hospitals with advanced facilities

No Donation

Completely transparent admission process without capitation fees or donations

Safe Environment

Student-friendly cities with excellent infrastructure and safe living conditions

Scholarships

Merit-based scholarships and special first-year packages available at various universities

Global Careers

Practice medicine globally after passing licensing exams (USMLE, PLAB, PMC/PMDC, etc.)

Pro Tip: China offers the perfect combination of affordability, quality, and global recognition. With English-medium programs and modern facilities, it's the ideal destination for aspiring doctors seeking world-class medical education.

CHAPTER 04

Admission Requirements

Essential eligibility criteria and documentation for 2026 intake

Age & Academic Requirements

Age Requirements

- ✓ Standard Age Range
17 to 30 years old for most universities
- ✓ Some Universities
18 to 24 years old (varies by institution)
- i Important Note
Age eligibility depends on each university's intake policy. Check specific requirements before applying.

Academic Requirements

- ✓ Minimum Marks
60% marks in FSc Pre-Medical or equivalent required for ALL universities
- ✓ MOE Listed Universities
60% in 4 major subjects: Physics, Chemistry, Biology, and English
- ✓ O/A-Levels Accepted
Equivalence certificate from IBCC required for O/A-Levels students

Pro Tips for Academic Preparation

For MOE Listed Programs: Focus on achieving 60%+ in Physics, Chemistry, Biology, and English individually. For Bilingual Programs: Overall 60% in FSc Pre-Medical is sufficient. O/A-Levels Students: Apply for IBCC equivalence certificate early to avoid delays.

CHAPTER 05

Program Types Explained

Understanding the difference between MOE and Non-
MOE programs

MOE Listed vs Non-MOE Bilingual Programs

MOE Listed Universities

Ministry of Education Approved

Degree Offered

MBBS – Bachelor of Medicine, Bachelor of Surgery

Medium of Instruction

Full English medium for foreign students

Program Duration

5+1 years (5 years academic + 1 year internship)

Entry Requirements

CSCA exam required for most universities

PMDC Recognition

Fully recognized by PMDC for licensing exam

Non-MOE Bilingual

Bilingual Programs

Degree Offered

BCM – Bachelor of Clinical Medicine

Medium of Instruction

Year 1: Chinese Language (HSK-4), Year 2+: Bilingual

Program Structure

Year 1: Chinese Language → Year 2+: Medicine Year 1 (5+1 years total)

Entry Requirements

HSK-4 required before promotion to Medicine Year 1

PMDC Recognition

Fully recognized by PMDC for licensing exam

Important Clarification

Both MBBS (MOE) and Bachelor of Clinical Medicine (Non-MOE) are recognized by PMDC. Graduates from both programs can appear in PMDC NLE exam and are considered doctors if qualified.

CHAPTER 06

PMDC Licensing Requirements

Essential information for practicing medicine in Pakistan

PMDC Exam & Licensing Requirements

BEFORE Going to China

MDCAT Requirement

Students who want to return to Pakistan and practice medicine MUST pass MDCAT with:

Minimum 50% Marks

MDCAT is mandatory for PMDC NLE eligibility

After Graduation

Upon completing your degree in China, you must pass the PMC/PMDC NLE (National Licensing Examination) to practice medicine in Pakistan.

PMDC Accepts Both Degrees

MOE Listed Programs

MBBS (Bachelor of Medicine, Bachelor of Surgery) – Full English medium

Non-MOE Bilingual Programs

Bachelor of Clinical Medicine – After HSK-4 language year

Both are recognized by PMDC

Both Are Considered Doctors

PMDC accepts both types of degrees and considers graduates from both MOE MBBS and Non-MOE Bachelor of Clinical Medicine programs as doctors, provided they:

- Pass MDCAT with 50%+ before going to China
- Complete their degree program successfully
- Pass PMDC NLE after graduation

NICE Consultants Support

We provide complete guidance for MDCAT preparation, PMDC NLE exam preparation, and licensing procedures.
